

Syren NO MORE COMPROMISES

A full line of shotguns and accessories designed exclusively for female shooters are on offer from Caesar Guerini, meaning women no longer have to compromise when it comes to choosing a shotgun.

It was the year 2014 when Caesar Guerini and Fabarm, led by the initiative of American partner Wesley Lang, president of Caesar Guerini USA and Fabarm USA, announced a collaborative venture to create the first ever brand of shotgun and accessories dedicated to female shooters: the Syren brand was born.

It has been the first venture to purely focus on designing shotguns for women's unique needs. To actually have an elegant line of shotguns designed for all women shooters, not simply a male or youth model that has been altered, has been a turning point in the industry.

The line developed at Caesar Guerini concentrates on over-and-under shotguns with an emphasis on weight, recoil reduction, stock dimensions, and esthetics. Each product is given all the consideration that goes into creating products for the male market.

The first task is to make the guns fit properly: women are built differently than men, with those "differences" never having been seriously addressed by any firearms company, until a few years ago. Specialised stock dimensions to fit the female anatomy with smaller pistol grips and Monte Carlo style stocks are utilised. Almost every dimension of the stock differs from the traditional male oriented models. The roses laser cut in the wood on each side of the top tang for the hunting models and, for the competition models, the Syren logo just below the pistol grip further distinguish the ladies' stocks.

"At Syren, we are driven to help more women become >>